

PX130 & PX140

Based on an anatomical nylon liner with dextrous polyurethane coating, these gloves offer excellent tactile mechanical protection combined with high level of grip in oily conditions.

Available in two styles, grey (PX130) and white (PX140) these products are ideally suited to engineering work or assembly where high levels of dexterity and protection are demanded. The seamless knitted nylon liner provides the basis of a glove which literally moulds to you hands and is completed with a range of 5 sizes. The open back allows extra ventilation to the hand helping to keep the skin dry.
